Brand New Book  Print on Demand .My father always said, The computer age just passed me by. For any adult that can peck away at a keyboard but lacks the basic computer skills to email or surf the web, this book is for you. Instructions on how to set up a computer lab with almost no money can be found in this this book. This book shows you ways to tap into the resources of your community. Anybody can learn, I know. I have been a volunteer tutor for over 20 years in this field. All the little secrets I have learned, I am sharing with you. Nobody today has to be left behind. I mean nobody, you should see the adults I have taught computers to. Many of them could barely read or write. When you have the determination like they have, anything is possible. When our oldest Windows 95 computer were replaced by a newer version, the most outstanding student was the proud owners of a computer. Don t throw away those old computers; somebody is out there waiting to learn on...
