Superintendent Greenwood writes The sweep of Manns mind embraced Gods universe, focussed on the child. He believed implicitly in the highest possibilities of human development. Everything for the child was his text. For the rest of this brief paragraph nothing will serve better than to quote a few thoughts as expressed by Mann himself: The education of the whole people, in a republican government, can never be attained without the consent of the whole people. Enlightenment, not coercion, is our resource. We can not drive our people up a dark avenue even though it be the right one; but we must hang the starry lights of knowledge about it, and show them not only the directness of its course to the good of prosperity and...
