Excerpt: .and took hounds into Bentley Wood, and then out on the far side. The pack were now reduced to very slow hunling, and finally threw up just below High Cross House, and, although Mr. Brand cast them towards Little Horstead, lthey could never speak l the line again. A great deal of country was now drawn blank; in fact, the M ister did not a second time succeed in fin.ling, so the word was at length given f r home. On Friday ihe meet was al Poyning s Cross Roads, and, although my horse was saddled and bridled in readiness for this fixture, l fairly turned tail at the last moment and declined to go. In mitigation of this confession of weakness, I may say that a biting northerly wind was driving before it clouds of snow, which it was scarcely fair to ask any...

Reviews

Extensive information for book fans. It is written in basic words and never hard to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
